MOTHER'S PLEA State Librarian FAILS IN COURT

Judge Sparks Sentences Chase Taylor to Six Months in Penal
Farm And Fines Him $250

ADJOURNED TERM OF COURT

Mrs. Alfred Taylor, Whose Husband
And Other Son Are at Farm,
Pleads For Clemency

A plea for clemency in behalf of Chase Taylor this morning, and in fining him $250 and sentencing him to six months at the state penal farm for "bootlegging," Judge Sparks intimated that the day for suspended sentences in cases of this kind had passed as far as the circuit court is concerned.

The one-day adjourned term of court was held expressly for the purpose of giving the Taylor boy a chance to dispose of his case. The case set for today was the one involving the sale of intoxicating liquor to some boys, but as Edgar Foster, the prosecuting witness, was not present, the other case against him was called. This was the case growing out of the raid on the beer "party" a few weeks ago. Chase Taylor at first pleaded not guilty and this morning changed the plea to guilty as he would have had to lie in jail until September term of court.

Mrs. Alfred Taylor, the boy's mother, appeared in court with him and asked for mercy at the hands of Judge Sparks. She said that Chase was not nearly as guilty as her husband, Alfred Taylor and son Chester. Both Chester and Alfred Taylor are serving sentences at the penal farm for similar offenses. Mrs. Taylor told the court that it was Chase's associates that were responsible for his trouble.

Judge Sparks stated that he believed Chase did the right thing by pleading guilty and thus avoid staying in jail until the September term. Judge Sparks stated that he believed the best interests of the community would not be served by a suspension of sentence in the case in question and referred to the many times that the Taylor boys have apparently taken the law into their own hands and defied the officers.

The court said the time had passed when the community would stand for acts of this kind and threats against the lives of officials here would not be tolerated. The court said he was sorry for the mother as she was a hard working woman and was spoken well of by her neighbors. Judge Sparks said he failed to hear one single complaint against Mrs. Taylor. He said it was only natural for her to attempt to keep the officers from opening the trap door in the floor of their home when the search for liquor was made. The court said that any mother would do this where her loved ones were in jeopardy and he held her in no way to blame.

In pronouncing sentence, Judge Sparks said that he did not feel that the ends of justice would be met by suspending sentence and said that Chase Taylor, while only a boy of nineteen, surely knew that it was against the law to sell and deal in liquor traffic in this city. The court stated that as long as liquor was made he believed it would be sold more or less, but to curb the unlawful sale and safe-guard the community, a fine and sentence in this case would be for the best interests.

Mrs. Taylor broke down and cried as her son was being led to jail. She had made a plea in his behalf and perhaps had her hopes a little too high. Sheriff Cavitt will probably take Chase to the penal farm tomorrow.

REFUSES A DISCUSSION

Asquith Will Not Talk of Reported
Cabinet Dissention.

London, July 12.—Premier Asquith in the commons this afternoon refused to be drawn into a discussion of rumors of dissention in the cabinet or of a split between Lord Kitchener and General French over the ammunition question. In reply to queries by Liberal members, he declared that any public discussion of the conduct of the war "would serve no good purpose at this time."

ARE URGED TO BUY TICKETS AT ONCE

Chautauqua Patrons Are Warned
That Guarantors' Allotment is
Not Going to Last Long.

SINGLE ADMISSION PRICES

Officials of the Rush County Chautauqua were calling attention to the fact today that there are only a limited number of guarantors' season tickets to be sold and that as soon as they are disposed of, all season tickets will be two dollars. It is expected that the season tickets will go fast this year because of the fine program which has been completed. Persons desiring tickets are urged to see some guarantor at once because it is estimated that the tickets will go much faster than usual.

There has been some confusion over the single admission prices. The price will be twenty-five cents on four days, thirty-five cents on the two Sundays and fifty cents on Tuesday and Friday. On the first named day Helen Keller will be the big attraction and on Friday Champ Clark, speaker of the national house of representatives. Miss Keller will speak at night, but Champ Clark will be on in the afternoon.

SKIDS CLEAR 'ROUND AND BUMPS A TREE

Howard Ewbank's Automobile is Damaged in Accident on Perkins Street Hill Saturday Eve.

HE KEEPS IT RIGHT SIDE UP

While trying to dodge the Mauzy company's auto delivery on the Perkins street hill, Howard Ewbank driving a light runabout, skidded Saturday evening, turned completely around and went into a small tree and hitching post in front of the home of Charles Alger, 425 North Perkins street.

Mr. Ewbank was driving to get in out of the rain. He made a quick turn to avoid hitting the Mauzy auto and did not entirely succeed. His front wheel brushed the left fender of the delivery and dented it up. Ewbank's machine was considerably damaged. The left back wheel was smashed and the back end was washed in by the impact with the tree and hitching post. Those who witnessed the accident say that Ewbank manged the skidding auto well, else it would have turned over.

—Harold Wilson of Newark, O., was expected today to visit his brother, S. R. Wilson, and family in North Perkins street.

THEORY OF CITY HAS BEEN WRONG

Attorney General Ruled Municipality is Responsible For Street
Improvement Bond Collections.

AND NOT THE CONTRACTOR

City is the One Which Shall Fore-
close the Lines, Opinion Received Here Today Said.

In an opinion received here today from the attorney general the theory held by the city council and the city attorney is completely knocked out regarding the payment of street improvement bonds.

The city has refused payment on bonds held by Arvel Herkless on sidewalk improvements in cases where the assessments have not been paid by the property owner. The city has held that before the bonds are paid the assessments must first be paid into the city treasury. Following out this theory, Herkless has filed several suits to foreclose improvement liens and in one case the lien has been ordered foreclosed.

Under the opinion of the attorney general, the city is responsible for the collection of the bonds and not the holder of them as in the case of Herkless. The opinion is sent here by the state board of accounts. Under the law as construed by the attorney general the city is the one that must foreclose the liens and see that the bonds are paid whether the money is collected or not. The opinion is considered important here and means that the county treasurer, who heretofore has paid no attention to the Barrett law improvement funds, will be compelled to act accordingly, and the property where the assessments remain unpaid will be offered at the delinquent tax sale. The opinion is as follows:

To all officials charged with the handling of Barret Law Improvement Funds: On June 28, 1915, the attorney general gave this department this opinion, as follows:

"In reply to your inquiry relatives to the investment of pre-payments on Barrett law assessments, I beg to advise that it is my opinion that all prepayments on Barrett law assessments, regardless of when assessments were made or waived, should be invested in a special fund to be held in trust by the treasurer in accordance with the statutes. (Here is set out quotations from chapter 129, acts 1915, page 548.)

"I find no decision directly upon the point. It is my opinion, however, that the act of 1915 taken and construed together with the other provisions of the Barrett law can only mean that ALL prepaid assessments shall constitute a 'special fund' to be held in trust by the city treasurer and invested by him in bonds. Otherwise, there would be two special funds relating to the same improvement; one as provided in Section 8,19 a, Burns' Indiana R. S., 1914, and one by the acts of 1915, the latter only being required to be invested in bonds. I do not believe that it was the intention of the legislature to require one special fund to be merely held in trust, accumulating no interest, and the other fund to be invested and draw interest. The reason for the investment applies in each case. The object of the law was that the prepaid installments should draw interest, until they are applied to the payment of the principal and interest. Such an application of the law does rest on the bonds as they fall due. Such an application of the law does rights, for no officer has a vested right in funds held by him, nor does it affect in the least the obligation

SUFFERS WITH HALLUCINATION

Harry Crockett, Who is Held Pending Investigation of Wife's Death, Fears Electrocuton.

APPEARS MENTALLY UPSET

Insists on Being Shown Seymour
City Building—Thinks Council
Chamber is Death Room.

Harry Crockett, who has been held in the city jail pending the investigation into the death of his wife in a wagon in which they were traveling through Rush county last week, and who was fined $5 and costs in police court on an old assault and battery charge, has an hallucination that he is to be electrocuted, says the Seymour Republican. He heard women who were scrubbing out the council chamber, immediately over the jail, moving chairs around, and was sure that they were getting the electric chair ready for him. Chief McCord and the Mayor both reassured him that no execution was being planned but Harry was confident they were "fixing things up" for him. The officers agreed to take him up stairs and show him around. When they arrived at the council room, he was positive that the big chair occupied by the mayor was the electric chair, and that it was all off for him. When informed that it was only Mayor seat, he then wanted to be shown through the City Engineers office, but the door to that room was locked, and then he knew for certain that it was the room where they were fixing the chair.

He told the Mayor he wanted a new trial, that he did not believe he had received justice, and seemed to be laboring under the delusion that he had been condemned for the death of his wife, and could not be made believe that there was no such charge against him.

Crockett has brooded continually over his wife's death and his mind appears to be unbalanced on the subject. He can see his "outfit," but is afraid his folks will sell it for him and pocket the money before he can get out.

Coroner Dickemeyer has not yet announced his verdict on the inquest into the woman's death.

Appeal of American Prelates to Prevent War Here.

ROME CORRESPONDENT WIRES

London, July 12.—The archbishop of Cincinnati and Milwaukee and the bishop of Toledo have appealed to Pope Benedict to use his influence to help keep America out of the war, the Rome correspondent of the Evening Star reported today.

His Holiness was quoted as recommending in his reply that the American prelates rely on the wisdom of President Wilson, "whose peaceful intentions are well known." The pope also strongly urged loyalty to their adopted country on the part of German-Americans, the correspondent said.

Amos W. Winship is seriously sick at his home near Milroy.

SHE MIGHT CONCEED MORE

Germany Would Place Four Ships
at Americans' Disposal.

BY CARL W. ACKERMAN.
(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)

Berlin, July 12.—Germany is willing to make further concessions to safeguard American travelers in the war zone, the foreign office informed me today. She will not abandon her submarine policy but she will consent to placing several great German liners under the American flag for the remainder of the war, in addition to granting immunity from submarine attacks to four English liners, as proposed in her latest note to Washington.

MAY TAKE THIRTY DAYS TO ANSWER

Reply to Germany Will be Made
Only After Far Reaching and Calmeest Consideration.

PRESIDENT IS STILL AWAY

Washington, July 12.—The reply to Germany's most recent note on submarine warfare will be prepared only after the most far reaching and calmeest consideration. This was indicated today when Secretary Lansing admitted that he had no immediate plans for a conference with President Wilson at Cornish.

The president, it is believed, wishes both Lansing and himself to make up their minds independent of each other. When the president returns to Washington, it is believed he and Lansing, both with ideas fully formed, will go over the matter together. It was learned positively that Secretary Lansing has not yet set a date for a meeting with German Ambassador Bernstorff, though the matter was known to have offered his services to throw further light on the German note.

There was only one reason, it was said, why Lansing should go to Cornish and that was to avoid shortening the president's vacation. The secretary was asked concerning a report that an answer would be rushed to Berlin this week, but only smiled and said there was "nothing to indicate it." Good authority said there was no reason why at least 30 days should not be taken in framing a reply to Germany.

Mrs. Waits and son, James Jr., have been living at the home of the Megee Brothers east of the city for the past two months. No particulars of the murder were given in the message received here. Oliver Megee and the son left today at noon for Cynthiana. Mrs. Waits has been under the care of a physician for some time and was not able to go.

LETTER MAY BE ONLY BIG SCARE

New Orleans Police Vigilance Not
Relaxed, However, in Endeavor
to Find "R. Pearce."

ALL SIGNS POINT TO HOAX

May Have Been Written to Newspaper Merely For Sake of Sensation it Might Create.

New Orleans, July 12.—Police officials investigating the "R. Pearce" letter received by a local newspaper, threatening to "finish" J. P. Morgan and assassinate British Ambassador Spring-Rice, after nearly twenty-four hours search, hinted today that the matter "may not be as serious as first thought."

Officially some of the detectives declared their investigations have disclosed unmistakable signs that the letter may have been written merely for the sake of the sensation it might create.

Dispite this, however, police vigilance was not relaxed and officials were more determined than ever to run down the case and punish the writer even though he may prove to be a practical joker.

The letter warned persons who had friends or relatives abroad the British steamships Howth Head and Baron Napier, which sailed from New Orleans July 9, with mules for the British Army, to watch for reports from these vessels.

Immediately upon receipts of the letter word was sent to Washington, and, at the order of Secretary of the Navy Daniels, wireless warnings were flashed to the ships named by the letter writer to look for bombs on the vessels. The warnings were sent from the powerful wireless station at Arlington, and even if not caught by the ships named, probably were picked up by other vessels and relayed to the Howth Head and Baron Napier.

The writer declared that it was Muentner who warned passengers on board the Luistania before that vessel sailed from New York that it would be dangerous to make the voyage on it. It also is declared that Muentner personally called on Charles Frohman and urged him not to take passage on the ship.

After announcing his intention to kill Mr. Morgan to avenge the death of Holt, the letter writer says: "Holt (Muentner) was my partner and I glory in the thought of his comradeship. We worked together even since this cursed war began. Holt is gone, but I am still here, and I am going to carry on the work the two of us began. I am going to carry on the work with redoubled fury."

"The statement that Holt intended

Leonidas Keisling Brings Action Against T. E. Bottorff and Enterprise Co., of Milroy.

AN AGREEMENT TO PAY SUM

Leonidas W. Keisling has filed suit against Thomas E. Bottorff and the Enterprising Milling and Elevator Company of Milroy, demanding $10,000 for money had and received. It is alleged that in 1906 a corporation known as the Enterprise Milling and Elevator Company was formed with a capital stock of $35,000, and that the incorporators were Jonathan Henderson, Ed C. Mahle, Leonidas Keisling and Thomas E. Bottorff.

It is alleged in the complaint that Mahle paid in nothing and received no stock, while the other men paid in $10,000 each and received one hundred shares of stock. It is further alleged that in 1908 the company was indebted in the sum of $18,000 and that the property was worth $40,000. Keisling alleged that he transferred all of his stock over to Bottorff and Bottorff in turn agreed to pay all the indebtedness of the firm and to pay Keisling $10,000. It is alleged that this sum has never been paid and this is what is demanded in the suit. Megee and Ross represent Keisling.

EFFECTIVE METHODS OF DEALING WITH BORER.

"Worming" and painting the trunks of the trees are recommended to owners of apple orchards as efficient methods of dealing with the roundheaded apple-tree borer in a new Farmers' Bulletin, No. 675, of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. A heavy application of some paint that will not injure the trees but will remain in an unbroken coat on the bark for two or three months, is effective in preventing the female from laying her eggs in the tree, and greatly reduces the amount of worming, or the removal of the insects with a knife and wire, that must be done.

The roundhead apple-tree borer, the most destructive of a number of similar pests, lays its eggs in or under the bark of apple trees. After hatching the larvae feed upon the inner bark and wood to such an extent that the tree is seriously weakened or killed. The pest is found over the whole of the eastern portion of the United States and as far west as Nebraska, Kansas and New Mexico. In addition to fruit trees, it feeds on service, wild crab and mountain ash trees, which makes it advisable for orchardists to remove these varieties for a distance of at least a hundred yards from their orchard.

The female lays her eggs, one at a time, in an incision she has made in the bark, usually just above the surface of the ground. About 15 or 20 days later the eggs hatch and the larvae appear. They first attack the inner bark, eating out broad, more or less circular galleries and thrusting out through small holes in the bark castings which form little heaps of reddish wood fragments around the base of the tree. During the winter the borers are quiescent but early in the following spring they attack the solid wood, while some of them work their way up the trunk. These last spend one more winter in the tree, and then, having passed through pupal stage, dig their way out and emerge as adult beetles. Three years are required for the insect to complete its development from egg to adult.

Ordinarily, the beetle lives about 40 or 50 days. It is about three-fourths of an inch in length, light brown in color above, with the broad white bands, joined in front, extending the full length of the back, the underparts and front of the head are white. The females rarely fly any considerable distance, so that if the immediate vicinity of an orchard can be kept free from them there is little danger of a serious infestation.

The most common method of ridding an orchard of these pests is to cut away the bark sufficiently to trace the burrows made by the borer. A hooked wire is then inserted into the burrow and the insect pulled out. If made with care, the wound in the tree caused by this process will heal readily. The castings at the base of the tree serve as an indication of the presence of the borers. Where the burrows are curved or obstructed in some way so that the wire can not be inserted, cotton batting dipped in carbon bisulphid should be inserted and the hole then plugged with moist earth. The gas from the carbon bisulphid will penetrate all parts of the burrow and kill the borer.

In addition to worming, as this process is called, paint is often used to prevent the beetles laying their eggs. Pure white lead and ray linseed oil, mixed rather thick, will not injure the trees, and when applied to young, smooth bark, will form a protective coat during the egg-laying season. It is probable that this is a more effective method than wrapping the trees with building paper, cotton batting, cloth or other materials sometimes used for this purpose. Before painting, however, the earth should be removed from the base of the tree for a depth of from 3 to 4 inches. The surface of the trunk thus exposed should be first scraped and painted and the earth then replaced. This is necessary, for the beetle occasionally lays her eggs under instead of above the ground.

CARRANZA MAY GET RECOGNITION YET

Must Appear First, However, That
His Capture of Mexico City Was Significant Victory.

MUST HOLD REAL ELECTION

(By United Press.)
Washington, July 12.—General Carranza was thought here today to stand a very fair chance of American recognition.

However, it must appear that the Carranzista capture of Mexico City really was a significant victory. This being the case, Carranza must act wisely, establishing a stable provisional government and taking steps toward a speedy and genuine national election for establishment of a permanent constitutional regime.

Official news of the Mexican capital's capture by the Carranzistas was lacking, but the news was unofficially so well established that no one doubted it. It was pointed out that the city was in Carranzista hands once before, however, and then passed into those of the Zapatistas. Officials want to be sure that the present occupation will last. If it does last, they said, especially if General Villa's northern campaign proves to be as badly disorganized as the reports indicate, Carranza seems likely to occupy a position of such strategic importance as to entitle him to the recognition he has so long desired.

AMERICA GIVES
SUM TO ALLIES

Most Philanthropic Nation Contributes Nearly $25,000,000 in Money Alone, Writer Says.

HOW THEY DID WORK ABROAD

Commission For Relief in Belgium Imports More Than $50,000,000 in Foodstuffs.

(By United Press.)

London, June 10: (By Mail to New York)—America, the most philanthropic nation of the world, has contributed thus far in money alone nearly $25,000,000 to the Allies, according to an English writer today preparing a book on the Voluntary effort during the war.

The amount of work, money and gifts contributed by America is so great that it is impossible to compute the value, the author says.

Highest praise is given to Americans in London who have worked unstintingly in relieving distress among the sufferers of the war. Among the leading Americans in London in this work is Gordon Selfridge, owner of one of London's department stores.

The Commission for Relief in Belgium, formed under the auspices of influential Americans and almost wholly conducted by Americans has thus far imported into Belgium food supplies valued at more than $50,000,000.

The American Red Cross society has sent more than seventy surgeons at 200 nurses to the battlefields of Europe as well as a sanitary commission. The hospitals of this organization are scattered over all hostile areas of Europe.

The American Women's War Relief Fund which has collected large funds for relief and organized many hospitals is now organizing another hospital in Devon with a capacity of 250 beds. This was made possible by Dr. Paris Singer, wealthy American who donated the building and gave $25,000 toward the equipment.

Horace Stewart, administrator of the estate of the late Frances Stewart has filed a petition in the circuit court to sell the real estate.

Extension Work.

The extension work of Indiana university, which is being sought for Rushville next winter, is a new thing in the Hoosier domain and one which will doubtless win the approval of the people. The Daily Student the Indiana University publication points out that the general approval with which its work has been greeted by the people of Indiana, and the rapid growth of the department, are among the greatest causes the university has for satisfaction when looking over the year's work.

The Extension division is not yet a year old, but in the few months of its existence it has already done a great deal toward "spreading the University over the State." Its avowed purpose is to take the University to those people who can not come to it. It aims to socialize education, to make it possible and attractive to the poor as well as to the well-to-do. To accompany this, the Extension Division offers correspondence lessons in scores of courses; it conducts "community institutes" in the towns and cities throughout the State. In the "community institutes," perhaps we see the greatest field for the Division. In this, the first year of its existence, it conducted twenty-two. In them the field of work is varied and covers practically every field of life. The division stands ready to teach housewives of a community the modern improvements in cooking and domestic science; it will organize the courses in the public schools in harmony with the most advanced methods known; it will hold community institutes to prove to people that it not only makes life more worth living to be guided by civic pride but that the course is also the cheapest. In a word, it takes the knowledge which is accumulated in the State University and puts it at the disposal of every inhabitant of the State; it puts the professors and instructors at their disposal; for the first time in history the "State University" is really the University of the whole State.

Whatever opposition has been made to higher education has been on the grounds that it is not democratic; that it exists for the well-to-do and never for the poor, and that the poor man must pay in taxes the money which educates the rich man's son. The unsoundness of this position, of course, need not be pointed out. But it is, nevertheless, a gratifying step to socialize higher education in the way accomplished by the Extension Division. We are now coming to have a real people's university. The student need not leave home and travel to Bloomington to "go to school;" higher education is introduced into the home. It is further gratifying to know that Indiana, which was one of the pioneers in the now generally accepted "liberal curriculum," is also one of the first in this new field of education.

To the Extension Division, which has accomplished so much in so short a time, which has grown so rapidly as to be in need of many new assistants to take care of the work next year, we offer sincerest congratulations and wishes for continued success. To director J. J. Pettijohn, the man behind the division, we say: "You are in the vanguard of true democracy; may your labors continue to bear fruit in abundance."

derbilt and the rest not to sail on it? It was Erich Muentner. He knew what was going to befall this British liner. He not only sent messages to a large number of people that he knew were going to sail on the ship, but he personally appealed to Charles Frohman not to make the voyage.

"Just as Muentner appealed to Frohman, Vanderbilt and the others not to sail on the Lusitania, so I now appeal to worthy Americans in this country not to sail on the British muleships leaving this port. Remember I am Muentner's pupil and very, very seldom has Muentner failed.

"Muentner's methods are my methods, I am working with enough explosives to wreck this whole town. I have a program to follow: British ships, Morgan, Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, and then oblivion. Halle failed completely, Muentner succeeded partly, I am going to succeed completely. I am but one among millions, but I have Muentner's backing and—I have dynamite.

"If there be any one among the readers of this that doubts these words, let him wait and watch; the early part of next week will witness the completion of Muentner's plans—that is, the beginning of the completion. If you will look up the records you will discover the names of two of his Majesty's ships that have just left port, perhaps never to return.

"One of them is called Howth Head, the other Baron. Have you any relatives on either of these ships? If you have, I feel sorry for you if you are an American. If you are a subject of his Majesty, I congratulate myself. Watch the career of some of these muleships."

HOOSIER HISTORY

Early Government Land Sales

Crawfordsville presented a lively scene three quarters of a century and more ago when the government land was being sold at $1.25 per acre. The land office town was crowded with visitors from the eastern and southern parts of the state, and from Ohio, Kentucky, Tennessee and Pennsylvania. The "Squatters" were careful not to bid up against each other. No two men had picked on the same tract one would pay the other a little money to withdraw, or they would draw lots. If a speculator made a bid or tried to get a bona fide settler's land, "he soon sees," writes a contemporary, "the white of a score of eyes snapping at him. The speculator was told to wait until the settlers were provided for—that there was enough land for all.

WOMEN TO PLAY IMPORTANT PART

Probably 700 Will Attend Annual Convention of Photographers Association of America

SEPARATE ORGANIZATION

Circulating Exhibit For Those Unable to Attend—Meeting Opens on July 19

Indianapolis, July 12.—Women will play an important part in the affairs of the Photographers' Association when it meets in convention here July 19. Probably 700 women will be here from all parts of the country, and if Miss Maybelle Goodlander of Muncie, has the proper information, they will be the five wires of the convention. Miss Goodlander is president of the Women's Federation of the Association. The Women's Federation of the P. A. of A was formed eight years ago for the purpose of benefitting the large number of successful women who have become a factor in the field of modern photography. It has brought together women from all parts of the country and stimulated the advancement of feminine camera art in no small degree. Nearly every city of any size boasts its studio conducted by some clever and artistic woman and the number is rapidly increasing.

The Woman's Federation was founded by Mary Carnell of Philadelphia, who first recognized the need of co-operation. It has a membership of over two hundred successful business women and meets annually in convention with the P. A. of A.

For those who cannot attend these conventions and learn of new methods and discoveries, there is a circulating exhibit of fine prints which makes a continual round of studios even in remote districts thus taking all to the latest examples of photographic art from the centers of civilization.

In order to facilitate the circulation of the exhibit and also to make the scope of the organization more thorough, the Federation is divided into committees or sections covering certain localities. Each of these sections is in charge of a chairman who keeps in touch with local conditions, brings in new members and handles the circulating exhibit in her territory.

CALIFORNIA GAVE FREELY TO BELGIUM

It Was One of First States in Union to Send Shipload of Food to Stricken People.

STANDFORD STUDENTS HELP

(By United Press.)

New York, July 12.—The great Pacific Coast state, California, with a heart bursting beyond its boundaries, was one of the first states in the Union to send a complete shipload of food to destitute Belgium, it became known today through the report of the Commission for Relief in Belgium, with head offices in this city.

And since the donation of that ship, loaded with food and supplies for starving Belgium, the people of California have been most liberal in their contributions. Among the most generous contributors were the people of Palo Alto and the students of Stanford University.

The Stanford students, at the first call for help from across the seas, organized a local relief committee and besides their initial contributions they agreed to make monthly gifts aggregating $400. They have kept this up and only recently the Chairman of the Belgium Relief Commission received a check of $1250 from Mrs. Harris J. Ryan of Stanford University.

CONCESSION MEN HARD HIT

Must Use Paper Cups For Lemonade and Other Beverages if Running Hot Water Isn't Available.

STATE HEALTH BOARD RULE

New Regulations For Soda Fountains Will be in Effect Soon—Early Enforcement Probable.

Concession men who follow the county fairs and those who have stands on the streets have been hard hit by the state board of health which has issued an order requiring individual drinking and service cups to be substituted where there is no provision for washing and sterilizing cups and glasses.

The vendors of lemonade and other beverages will have to use individual cups of paper or other material, under the new ruling, if he does not have the facilities for washing cups and glasses in running hot water and with soap.

Rules regulating the sanitary conditions surrounding soda fountains and ice cream parlors also have been adopted by the state board. Besides providing for the washing of glasses in running hot water or the substitution of paper liners or cups, the rules require that employees at soda fountains shall be cleanly in person and dress, free from infectious and contagious diseases and trained in the conduct of their work.

H. E. Barnard, state health commissioner, recently suggested to refreshment stand owners that they improve their methods of serving their beverages, but now that the state board has adopted a rule declaring the common cups and glasses insanitary and dangerous to health he will instruct his inspectors to close all stands or make arrests where insanitary conditions prevail. The use of the common cups is forbidden unless adequate provision is made for washing and sterilizing such cups or glasses after each service.

Suggestions concerning the sanitary arrangements in meat markets and at soda fountains have not been incorporated into rules of the state board of health, and these rules are also to be enforced by the food inspectors. The rule applying to meat markets provides that all fresh and unwrapped meats shall be kept in a refrigerator or protected from flies and dirt by cases. Dealers, under this rule, shall be permitted to keep on the meat block only such parts or carcasses as may be necessary to the expeditions conduct of their business. Most dealers, according to Mr. Barnard, already comply with this rule.

GOOD NEWS

Many Rushville Readers Have Heard it and Profited Thereby.

"Good news travels fast," and the bad back sufferers in Rushville are glad to learn where relief may be found. Many a lame, weak and aching back is bad no more, thanks to Doan's Kidney Pills. Our citizens are telling the good news of their experience with this tested remedy. Here is an example worth reading:

Samuel A. Brown, R. R. No. 10, Rushville, says: "I had a severe attack of backache and it got worse every day. Finally, the trouble got so bad that I could hardly raise my foot above the ground. When I stooped, I thought my back would break. Someone advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills and I got a box. I was very much surprised at the prompt way in which they stopped the trouble. In a few days I was free from pain."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Brown had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

TO PUT GASOLINE UNDER THE EARTH

State Fire Marshall's Office Launches Campaign to Prevent Accidents From Such Causes.

ORDERS ARE BEING ISSUED

Forty Days to Comply With Them and in Case of Failure Fine of From $10 to $50 is Possible.

A general crusade has been undertaken by the State Fire Marshal department, to put gasoline underground in Indiana. Hundreds of orders have been issued already and the enforcement will be undertaken at once on the expiration of forty days time allowed to obey. The penalty provided for each day's neglect to obey the order is a fine of from $10 to $50.

The files in the State Fire Marshal department are eloquent in arguments in favor of the underground gasoline storage tank. Accidents often fatal in their results are of almost daily occurrence in the state. In the great majority of these cases accidental and destructive fires would have been entirely eliminated had the explosive been properly stored.

Educational work along this line has been done since the organization of the Fire Marshal department. Progressive dealers in gasoline and users of this oil have in many instances provided approved modern underground storage tanks as a matter of choice. Others, owners of the old fashioned red boxes have readily made the desired change when acquainted with legal requirements. Future attention will be given to delinquents.

Warnings against efforts at concealment of improper storage tanks have been given by deputies in making inspections. One of the greatest menaces to firemen in fighting incipient blazes is found in gasoline stored in cleaning and tailoring establishments above ground. This class of risks has received special attention.

Prosecutions for failure to obey orders will make under the general Fire Marshal law of 1913. The storage of gasoline up to ten gallons in an approved safety can is permitted above ground. Greater quantities must be put underground.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Conoway will move into their new house on North Morgan street this week.

Speaker Declares Church Workers Must Have Definite And Systematic Way to Succeed

ADDRESS C. E. CONVENTION

Editorial Secretary Says Sincere Efforts Are Wasted Many Times—is an Occupation

Chicago, July 12.—Delegates to the International Christian Endeavor convention here last night heard Amos R. Wells, Litt. D. LL. D., Boston, Mass., editorial secretary of the United Society of Christian Endeavor, tell them that their efforts in church work were blind and stumbling and that they must seek a definite and systematic way to bring sinners to Christ.

He declared that many of the most sincere efforts of Christians are practically wasted because of lack of training. In part he said: "A man must be trained to run a locomotive; why not to run a prayer meeting? Is the way to Heaven less important than the way to New York?"

"A man must be trained to conduct a business; why not to conduct a church business meeting? Is not our Father's Business as important as selling ribbons?"

"A man must be trained to practice law; why not to save souls? Is it not more important to persuade a jury that a man is a rascal than to persuade an immortal being that Jesus Christ is his only savior?"

"The world puts us to shame. All occupations are crowded but the highest of all occupations."

Closing his address Wells declared that the Christian Endeavor is the ideal training school of the church and suggested religious vocational education to train church workers in the particular work in which they are best adapted.

Asphyxiating Cases From German Shells Make it Impossible to Hold Positions.

ADMITTED BY WAR OFFICE

(By United Press.)

Paris, July 12.—A furious German night attack south of Souchez in which the enemy used thousands of asphyxiating bombs forced the French to evacuate the Souchez cemetery and portions of adjoining trenches, the war office admitted this afternoon.

The first attack by Germans failed. The French replied with a bayonet attack that swept the Tuetons back upon their own trenches.

While the enemy was reforming for a second attack, the French works were heavily shelled. A large part of the projectiles gave off asphyxiating gases that hung over the cemetery in a calm night and rendered the French positions untenable. The French troops, therefore, withdrew to positions in the rear from which they shelled the enemy with great effectiveness.

MOTHER'S PLEA FAILS IN COURT

Judge Sparks Sentences Chase Taylor to Six Months in Penal
Farm And Fines Him $250

ADJOURNED TERM OF COURT

Mrs. Alfred Taylor, Whose Husband
And Other Son Are at Farm,
Pleads For Clemency

A plea for clemency in behalf of Chase Taylor this morning, and in fining him $250 and sentencing him to six months at the state penal farm for "bootlegging," Judge Sparks intimated that the day for suspended sentences in cases of this kind had passed as far as the circuit court is concerned.

The one-day adjourned term of court was held expressly for the purpose of giving the Taylor boy a chance to dispose of his case. The case set for today was the one involving the sale of intoxicating liquor to some boys, but as Edgar Foster, the prosecuting witness, was not present, the other case against him was called. This was the case growing out of the raid on the beer "party" a few weeks ago. Chase Taylor at first pleaded not guilty and this morning changed the plea to guilty as he would have had to lie in jail until September term of court.

Mrs. Alfred Taylor, the boy's mother, appeared in court with him and asked for mercy at the hands of Judge Sparks. She said that Chase was not nearly as guilty as her husband, Alfred Taylor and son Chester. Both Chester and Alfred Taylor are serving sentences at the penal farm for similar offenses. Mrs. Taylor told the court that it was Chase's associates that were responsible for his trouble.

Judge Sparks stated that he believed Chase did the right thing by pleading guilty and thus avoid staying in jail until the September term. Judge Sparks stated that he believed the best interests of the community would not be served by a suspension of sentence in the case in question and referred to the many times that the Taylor boys have apparently taken the law into their own hands and defied the officers.

The court said the time had passed when the community would stand for acts of this kind and threats against the lives of officials here would not be tolerated. The court said he was sorry for the mother as she was a hard working woman and was spoken well of by her neighbors. Judge Sparks said he failed to hear one single complaint against Mrs. Taylor. He said it was only natural for her to attempt to keep the officers from opening the trap door in the floor of their home when the search for liquor was made. The court said that any mother would do this where her loved ones were in jeopardy and he held her in no way to blame.

In pronouncing sentence, Judge Sparks said that he did not feel that the ends of justice would be met by suspending sentence and said that Chase Taylor, while only a boy of nineteen, surely knew that it was against the law to sell and deal in liquor traffic in this city. The court stated that as long as liquor was made he believed it would be sold more or less, but to curb the unlawful sale and safe-guard the community, a fine and sentence in this case would be for the best interests.

Mrs. Taylor broke down and cried as her son was being led to jail. She had made a plea in his behalf and perhaps had her hopes a little too high. Sheriff Cavitt will probably take Chase to the penal farm tomorrow.

REFUSES A DISCUSSION

Asquith Will Not Talk of Reported
Cabinet Dissention.

London, July 12.—Premier Asquith in the commons this afternoon refused to be drawn into a discussion of rumors of dissention in the cabinet or of a split between Lord Kitchener and General French over the ammunition question. In reply to queries by Liberal members, he declared that any public discussion of the conduct of the war "would serve no good purpose at this time."

ARE URGED TO BUY TICKETS AT ONCE

Chautauqua Patrons Are Warned
That Guarantors' Allotment is
Not Going to Last Long.

SINGLE ADMISSION PRICES

Officials of the Rush County Chautauqua were calling attention to the fact today that there are only a limited number of guarantors' season tickets to be sold and that as soon as they are disposed of, all season tickets will be two dollars. It is expected that the season tickets will go fast this year because of the fine program which has been completed. Persons desiring tickets are urged to see some guarantor at once because it is estimated that the tickets will go much faster than usual.

There has been some confusion over the single admission prices. The price will be twenty-five cents on four days, thirty-five cents on the two Sundays and fifty cents on Tuesday and Friday. On the first named day Helen Keller will be the big attraction and on Friday Champ Clark, speaker of the national house of representatives. Miss Keller will speak at night, but Champ Clark will be on in the afternoon.

SKIDS CLEAR 'ROUND AND BUMPS A TREE

Howard Ewbank's Automobile is Damaged in Accident on Perkins Street Hill Saturday Eve.

HE KEEPS IT RIGHT SIDE UP

While trying to dodge the Mauzy company's auto delivery on the Perkins street hill, Howard Ewbank driving a light runabout, skidded Saturday evening, turned completely around and went into a small tree and hitching post in front of the home of Charles Alger, 425 North Perkins street.

Mr. Ewbank was driving to get in out of the rain. He made a quick turn to avoid hitting the Mauzy auto and did not entirely succeed. His front wheel brushed the left fender of the delivery and dented it up. Ewbank's machine was considerably damaged. The left back wheel was smashed and the back end was washed in by the impact with the tree and hitching post. Those who witnessed the accident say that Ewbank manged the skidding auto well, else it would have turned over.

Harold Wilson of Newark, O., was expected today to visit his brother, S. R. Wilson, and family in North Perkins street.

THEORY OF CITY HAS BEEN WRONG

Attorney General Ruled Municipality is Responsible For Street
Improvement Bond Collections.

AND NOT THE CONTRACTOR

City is the One Which Shall Fore-
close the Lines, Opinion Received Here Today Said.

In an opinion received here today from the attorney general the theory held by the city council and the city attorney is completely knocked out regarding the payment of street improvement bonds.

The city has refused payment on bonds held by Arvel Herkless on sidewalk improvements in cases where the assessments have not been paid by the property owner. The city has held that before the bonds are paid the assessments must first be paid into the city treasury. Following out this theory, Herkless has filed several suits to foreclose improvement liens and in one case the lien has been ordered foreclosed.

Under the opinion of the attorney general, the city is responsible for the collection of the bonds and not the holder of them as in the case of Herkless. The opinion is sent here by the state board of accounts. Under the law as construed by the attorney general the city is the one that must foreclose the liens and see that the bonds are paid whether the money is collected or not. The opinion is considered important here and means that the county treasurer, who here-to-fore has paid no attention to the Barrett law improvement funds, will be compelled to act accordingly, and the property where the assessments remain unpaid will be offered at the delinquent tax sale. The opinion is as follows:

To all officials charged with the handling of Barrett Law Improvement Funds: On June 28, 1915, the attorney general gave this department this opinion, as follows:

"In reply to your inquiry relatives to the investment of pre-payments on Barrett law assessments. I beg to advise that it is my opinion that all prepayments on Barrett law assessments, regardless of when assessments were made or waived, should be invested in a special fund to be held in trust by the treasurer in accordance with the statutes. (Here is set out quotations from chapter 129, acts 1915, page 548.)

"I find no decision directly upon the point. It is my opinion, however, that the act of 1915 taken and construed together with the other provisions of the Barrett law can only mean that ALL prepaid assessments shall constitute a 'special fund' to be held in trust by the city treasurer and invested by him in bonds. Otherwise, there would be two special funds relating to the same improvement; one as provided in Section 8,19-a, Burns' Indiana R. S., 1914, and one by the acts of 1915, the latter only being required to be invested in bonds. I do not believe that it was the intention of the legislature to require one special fund to be merely held in trust, accumulating no interest, and the other fund to be invested and draw interest. The reason for the investment applies in each case. The object of the law was that the prepaid installments should draw interest, until they are applied to the payment of the principal and interest. Such an application of the law does rest on the bonds as they fall due. Such an application of the law does rights for no officer has a vested right in funds held by him, nor does it affect in the least the obligation

Harry Crockett, Who is Held Pending Investigation of Wife's Death, Fears Electrocutation.

APPEARS MENTALLY UPSET

Insists on Being Shown Seymour
City Building—Thinks Council
Chamber is Death Room.

Harry Crockett, who has been held in the city jail pending the investigation into the death of his wife in a wagon in which they were traveling through Rush county last week, and who was fined $5 and costs in police court on an old assault and battery charge, has an hallucination that he is to be electrocuted, says the Seymour Republican. He heard women who were scrubbing out the council chamber, immediately over the jail, moving chairs around, and was sure that they were getting the electric chair ready for him. Chief McCord and the Mayor both reassured him that no execution was being planned but Harry was confident they were "fixing things up" for him. The officers agreed to take him up stairs and show him around. When they arrived at the council room, he was positive that the big chair occupied by the mayor was the electric chair, and that it was all off for him. When informed that it was only Mayor seat, he then wanted to be shown through the City Engineers office, but the door to that room was locked, and then he knew for certain that it was the room where they were fixing the chair.

He told the Mayor he wanted a new trial, that he did not believe he had received justice, and seemed to be laboring under the delusion that he had been condemned for the death of his wife, and could not be made believe that there was no such charge against him. Crockett has brooded continually over his wife's death and his mind appears to be unbalanced on the subject. He can see his "outfit," but is afraid his folks will sell it for him and pocket the money before he can get out.

Coroner Dickmeyer has not yet announced his verdict on the inquest into the woman's death.

URGES THEM TO RELY ON WILSON

Pope Reported to Have Answered
Appeal of American Prelates to Prevent War Here.

ROME CORRESPONDENT WIRES

London, July 12.—The archbishop of Cincinnati and Milwaukee and the bishop of Toledo have appealed to Pope Benedict to use his influence to help keep America out of the war, the Rome correspondent of the Evening Star reported today.

His Holiness was quoted as recommending in his reply that the American prelates rely on the wisdom of President Wilson, "whose peaceful intentions are well known." The pope also strongly urged loyalty to their adopted country on the part of German-Americans, the correspondent said.

Amos W. Winship is seriously sick at his home near Milroy.

SHE MIGHT CONCEED MORE

Germany Would Place Four Ships
at Americans' Disposal.

BY CARL W. ACKERMAN.
(U. S. Staff Correspondent.)

Berlin, July 12.—Germany is willing to make further concessions to safeguard American travelers in the war zone, the foreign office informed me today. She will not abandon her submarine policy but she will consent to placing several great German liners under the American flag for the remainder of the war, in addition to granting immunity from submarine attacks to four English liners, as proposed in her latest note to Washington.

MAY TAKE THIRTY DAYS TO ANSWER

Reply to Germany Will be Made
Only After Far Reaching and Caldest Consideration.

PRESIDENT IS STILL AWAY

(By United Press.)

Washington, July 12.—The reply to Germany's most recent note on submarine warfare will be prepared only after the most far reaching and calmest consideration. This was indicated today when Secretary Lansing admitted that he had no immediate plans for a conference with President Wilson at Cornish.

The president, it is believed, wishes both Lansing and himself to make up their minds independent of each other. When the president returns to Washington, it is believed he and Lansing, both with ideas fully formed, will go over the matter together. It was learned positively that Secretary Lansing has not yet set a date for a meeting with German Ambassador Bernstorff, though the matter was known to have offered his services to throw further light on the German note.

There was only one reason, it was said, why Lansing should go to Cornish and that was to avoid shortening the president's vacation. The secretary was asked concerning a report that an answer would be rushed to Berlin this week, but only smiled and said there was "nothing to indicate it." Good authority said there was no reason why at least 30 days should not be taken in framing a reply to Germany.

LETTER MAY BE ONLY BIG SCARE

New Orleans Police Vigilance Not
Relaxed, However, in Endeavor
to Find "R. Pearce."

ALL SIGNS POINT TO HOAX

May Have Been Written to Newspaper Merely For Sake of Sensation it Might Create.

(By United Press.)

New Orleans, July 12.—Police officials investigating the "R. Pearce" letter received by a local newspaper, threatening to "finish" J. P. Morgan and assassinate British Ambassador Spring-Rice, after nearly twenty-four hours search, hinted today that the matter "may not be as serious as first thought."

Officially some of the detectives declared their investigations have disclosed unmistakable signs that the letter may have been written merely for the sake of the sensation it might create.

Dispite this, however, police vigilance was not relaxed and officials were more determined than ever to run down the case and punish the writer even though he may prove to be a practical joker.

The letter warned persons who had friends or relatives abroad the British steamships Howth Head and Baron Napier, which sailed from New Orleans July 9, with mules for the British Army, to watch for reports from these vessels.

Immediately upon receipts of the letter word was sent to Washington, and, at the order of Secretary of the Navy Daniels, wireless warnings were flashed to the ships named by the letter writer to look for bombs on the vessels. The warnings were sent from the powerful wireless station at Arlington, and even if not caught by the ships named, probably were picked up by other vessels and relayed to the Howth Head and Baron Napier.

The writer declared that it was Muentner who warned passengers on board the Luistania before that vessel sailed from New York that it would be dangerous to make the voyage on it. It also is declared that Muentner personally called on Charles Frohman and urged him not to take passage on the ship.

After announcing his intention to kill Mr. Morgan to avenge the death of Holt, the letter writer says: "Holt (Muentner) was my partner and I glory in the thought of his comradeship. We worked together even since this cursed war began. Holt is gone, but I am still here, and I am going to carry on the work the two of us began. I am going to carry on the work with redoubled fury."

"The statement that Holt intended

ASKS $10,000 IN SUIT FILED TODAY

Leonidas Keisling Brings Action
Against T. E. Bottorff and Enterprise Co., of Milroy.

AN AGREEMENT TO PAY SUM

Leonidas W. Keisling has filed suit against Thomas E. Bottorff and the Enterprising Milling and Elevator Company of Milroy, demanding $10,000 for money had and received. It is alleged that in 1906 a corporation known as the Enterprise, Milling and Elevator Company was formed with a capital stock of $35,000, and that the incorporators were Jonathan Henderson, Ed C. Mahle, Leonidas Keisling and Thomas E. Bottorff.

It is alleged in the complaint that Mahle paid in nothing and received no stock, while the other men paid in $10,000 each and received one hundred shares of stock. It is further alleged that in 1908 the company was indebted in the sum of $18,000 and that the property was worth $40,000. Keisling alleged that he transferred all of his stock over to Bottorff and Bottorff in turn agreed to pay all the indebtedness of the firm and to pay Keisling $10,000. It is alleged that this sum has never been paid and this is what is demanded in the suit. Megee and Ross represent Keisling.

EFFECTIVE METHODS OF DEALING WITH BORER.

"Worming" and painting the trunks of the trees are recommended to owners of apple orchards as efficient methods of dealing with the roundheaded apple-tree borer in a new Farmers' Bulletin, No. 675, of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. A heavy application of some paint that will not injure the trees but will remain in an unbroken coat on the bark for two or three months, is effective in preventing the female from laying her eggs in the tree, and greatly reduces the amount of worming, or the removal of the insects with a knife and wire, that must be done.

The roundhead apple-tree borer, the most destructive of a number of similar pests, lays its eggs in or under the bark of apple trees. After hatching the larvae feed upon the inner bark and wood to such an extent that the tree is seriously weakened or killed. The pest is found over the whole of the eastern portion of the United States and as far west as Nebraska, Kansas and New Mexico. In addition to fruit trees, it feeds on service, wild crab and mountain ash trees, which makes it advisable for orchardists to remove these varieties for a distance of at least a hundred yards from their orchard.

The female lays her eggs, one at a time, in an incision she has made in the bark, usually just above the surface of the ground. About 15 or 20 days later the eggs hatch and the larvae appear. They first attack the inner bark, eating out broad, more or less circular galleries and thrusting out through small holes in the bark castings which form little heaps of reddish wood fragments around the base of the tree. During the winter the borers are quiescent but early in the following spring they attack the solid wood, while some of them work their way up the trunk. These last spend one more winter in the tree, and then, having passed through pupal stage, dig their way out and emerge as adult beetles. Three years are required for the insect to complete its development from egg to adult.

Ordinarily, the beetle lives about 40 or 50 days. It is about three-fourths of an inch in length, light brown in color above, with the broad white bands, joined in front, extending the full length of the back, the underparts and front of the head are white. The females rarely fly any considerable distance, so that if the immediate vicinity of an orchard can be kept free from them there is little danger of a serious infestation.

The most common method of ridding an orchard of these pests is to cut away the bark sufficiently to trace the burrows made by the borer. A hooked wire is then inserted into the burrow and the insect pulled out. If made with care, the wound in the tree caused by this process will heal readily. The castings at the base of the tree serve as an indication of the presence of the borers. Where the burrows are curved or obstructed in some way so that the wire can not be inserted, cotton batting dipped in carbon bisulphid should be inserted and the hole then plugged with moist earth. The gas from the carbon bisulphid will penetrate all parts of the burrow and kill the borer.

In addition to worming, as this process is called, paint is often used to prevent the beetles laying their eggs. Pure white lead and ray linseed oil, mixed rather thick, will not injure the trees, and when applied to young, smooth bark, will form a protective coat during the egg-laying season. It is probable that this is a more effective method than wrapping the trees with building paper, cotton batting, cloth or other materials sometimes used for this purpose.

Before painting, however, the earth should be removed from the base of the tree for a depth of from 3 to 4 inches. The surface of the trunk thus exposed should be first scraped and painted and the earth then replaced. This is necessary, for the beetle occasionally lays her eggs under instead of above the ground.

CARRANZA MAY GET RECOGNITION YET

Must Appear First, However, That His Capture of Mexico City Was Significant Victory.

MUST HOLD REAL ELECTION

(By United Press.)

Washington, July 1.—General Carranza was thought here today to stand a very fair chance of American recognition.

However, it must appear that the Carranzista capture of Mexico City really was a significant victory. This being the case, Carranza must act wisely, establishing a stable provisional government and taking steps toward a speedy and genuine national election for establishment of a permanent constitutional regime.

Official news of the Mexican capital's capture by the Carranzistas was lacking, but the news was unofficially so well established that no one doubted it. It was pointed out that the city was in Carranzista hands once before, however, and then passed into those of the Zapatistas. Officials want to be sure that the present occupation will last. If it does last, they said, especially if General Villa's northern campaign proves to be as badly disorganized as the reports indicate, Carranza seems likely to occupy a position of such strategic importance as to entitle him to the recognition he has so long desired.

AMERICA GIVES SUM TO ALLIES

Most Philanthropic Nation Contributes Nearly $25,000,000 in Money Alone, Writer Says.

HOW THEY DID WORK ABROAD

Commission For Relief in Belgium Imports More Than $50,000,000 in Foodstuffs.

(By United Press.)

London, June 10: (By Mail to New York)—America, the most philanthropic nation of the world, has contributed thus far in money alone nearly $25,000,000 to the Allies, according to an English writer today preparing a book on the Voluntary effort during the war.

The amount of work, money and gifts contributed by America is so great that it is impossible to compute the value, the author says.

Highest praise is given to Americans in London who have worked unstintingly in relieving distress among the sufferers of the war. Among the leading Americans in London in this work is Gordon Selfridge, owner of one of London's department stores.

The Commission for Relief in Belgium, formed under the auspices of influential Americans and almost wholly conducted by Americans has thus far imported into Belgium food supplies valued at more than $50,000,000.

The American Red Cross society has sent more than seventy surgeons at 200 nurses to the battlefields of Europe as well as a sanitary commission. The hospitals of this organization are scattered over all hostile areas of Europe.

The American Women's War Relief Fund which has collected large funds for relief and organized many hospitals is now organizing another hospital in Deven with a capacity of 250 beds. This was made possible by Dr. Paris Singer, wealthy American who donated the building and gave $25,000 toward the equipment.

Horace Stewart, administrator of the estate of the late Frances Stewart has filed a petition in the circuit court to sell the real estate.

Extension Work.
The extension work of Indiana university, which is being sought for Rushville next winter, is a new thing in the Hoosier domain and one which will doubtless win the approval of the people. The Daily Student the Indiana University publication points out that the general approval with which its work has been greeted by the people of Indiana, and the rapid growth of the department, are among the greatest causes the university has for satisfaction when looking over the year's work.
The Extension division is not yet a year old, but in the few months of its existence it has already done a great deal toward "spreading the University over the State." Its avowed purpose is to take the University to those people who can not come to it. It aims to socialize education, to make it possible and attractive to the poor as well as to the well-to-do. To accompany this, the Extension Division offers correspondence lessons in scores of courses; it conducts "community institutes" in the towns and cities throughout the State.

In the "community institutes," perhaps we see the greatest field for the Division. In this, the first year of its existence, it conducted twenty-two. In them, the field of work is varied and covers practically every field of life. The division stands ready to teach housewives of a community the modern improvements in cooking and domestic science; it will organize the courses in the public schools in harmony with the most advanced methods known; it will hold community institutes to prove to people that it not only makes life more worth living to be guided by civic pride but that the course is also the cheapest. In a word, it takes the knowledge which is accumulated in the State University and puts it at the disposal of every inhabitant of the State; it puts the professors and instructors at their disposal; for the first time in history the "State University" is really the University of the whole State.

Whatever opposition has been made to higher education has been on the grounds that it is not democratic; that it exists for the well-to-do and never for the poor, and that the poor man must pay in taxes the money which educates the rich man's son. The unsoundness of this position, of course, need not be pointed out. But it is, nevertheless, a gratifying step to socialize higher education in the way accomplished by the Extension Division. We are now coming to have a real people's university. The student need not leave home and travel to Bloomington to "go to school;" higher education is introduced into the home.

It is further gratifying to know that Indiana, which was one of the pioneers in the now generally accepted "liberal curriculum," is also one of the first in this new field of education.

To the Extension Division, which has accomplished so much in so short a time, which has grown so rapidly as to be in need of many new assistants to take care of the work next year, we offer sincerest congratulations and wishes for continued success. To director, J. J. Pettijohn, the man behind the division, we say: "You are in the vanguard of true democracy; may your labors continue to bear fruit in abundance."

LETTER MAY BE ONLY BIG SCARE

to wreck libraries and other such public buildings is a lie. The capitol is the only building we planned to wreck. But what we did plan and what I am going to carry out is just the idea to stop the country from contributing to the damnable, hellish, barbaric slaughter across the ocean.

"British mule ships are daily leaving New Orleans with live stock for the enemies of Germany, just as ships laden with guns and ammunition to slaughter Germans are almost daily leaving New York. Therefore, this city furnishes a promising field for the work that lies before me. I may succeed in blowing up but one British ship leaving this port—I am may succeed in destroying ten—but I am going to carry out this work, and whatever I achieve will be satisfactory to me, and then I will be ready for Morgan. And after I get through with Morgan I will be ready to share my pal's fate; I consider it a glorious fate.

"And Sir Cecil Spring-Rice. Do you want to know who Munter was after when he went to Glen Cove? Morgan? Partly. The real reason for going to Glen Cove was Sir Cecil Spring-Rice. We have trailed Spring-Rice for weeks and we are going to get him yet.

"This country considers Munter a barbarian—a crank. I knew him in Germany, I knew him in America. He destroyed property and took lives when he knew good would follow, never otherwise. He taught me his principles, his ideals, and as I said before, I glory in his leadership of the past. He stood ready to risk his own life to save other lives that he considered worthy. Why, at the time the Lusitania sailed on its fateful voyage, do you know who it was that warned Vanderbilt and the rest not to sail on it? It was Erich Munter. He knew what was going to befall this British liner. He not only sent messages to a large number of people that he knew were going to sail on the ship, but he personally appealed to Charles Frohman not to make the voyage.

"Just as Munter appealed to Frohman, Vanderbilt and the others not to sail on the Lusitania, so I now appeal to worthy Americans in this country not to sail on the British muleships leaving this port. Remember I am Munter's pupil and very, very seldom has Munter failed.

"Munter's methods are my methods, I am working with enough explosives to wreck this whole town. I have a program to follow: British ships, Morgan, Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, and then oblivion. Halle failed completely, Munter succeeded partly, I am going to succeed completely. I am but one among millions, but I have Munter's backing and—I have dynamite.

"If there be any one among the readers of this that doubts these words, let him wait and watch; the early part of next week will witness the completion of Munter's plans—that is, the beginning of the completion. If you will look up the records you will discover the names of two of his Majesty's ships that have just left port, perhaps never to return.

"One of them is called Howth Head, the other Baron. Have you any relatives on either of these ships? If you have, I feel sorry for you if you are an American. If you are a subject of his Majesty, I congratulate myself. Watch the career of some of these muleships."

HOOSIER HISTORY

Prepared for the United Press by the Centennial Department of the Indiana Historical Commission
Early Government Land Sales

Crawfordsville presented a lively scene three quarters of a century and more ago when the government land was being sold at $1.25 per acre. The land office town was crowded with visitors from the eastern and southern parts of the state, and from Ohio, Kentucky, Tennessee and Pennsylvania. The "Squatters" were careful not to bid up against each other. No two men had picked on the same tract one would pay the other a little money to withdraw, or they would draw lots. If a speculator made a bid or tried to get a bona fide settler's land, "he soon sees," writes a contemporary, "the white of a score of eyes snapping at him." The speculator was told to wait until the settlers were provided for—that there was enough land for all.

WOMEN TO PLAY IMPORTANT PART

Probably 700 Will Attend Annual Convention of Photographers Association of America

SEPARATE ORGANIZATION

Circulating Exhibit For Those Unable to Attend—Meeting Opens on July 19

Indianapolis, July 12.—Women will play an important part in the affairs of the Photographers' Association when it meets in convention here July 19. Probably 700 women will be here from all parts of the country, and if Miss Maybelle Goodlander of Muncie, has the proper information, they will be the live wires of the convention. Miss Goodlander is president of the Women's Federation of the Association. The Women's Federation of the P. A. of A was formed eight years ago for the purpose of benefitting the large number of successful women who have become a factor in the field of modern photography. It has brought together women from all parts of the country and stimulated the advancement of feminine camera art in no small degree. Nearly every city of any size boasts its studio conducted by some clever and artistic woman and the number is rapidly increasing.

The Woman's Federation was founded by Mary Cornell of Philadelphia, who first recognized the need of co-operation. It has a membership of over two hundred successful business women and meets annually in convention with the P. A. of A.

For those who cannot attend these conventions and learn of new methods and discoveries, there is a circulating exhibit of fine prints which makes a continual round of studios even in remote districts thus taking all to the latest examples of photographic art from the centers of civilization.

In order to facilitate the circulation of the exhibit and also to make the scope of the organization more thorough, the Federation is divided into committees or sections covering certain localities. Each of these sections is in charge of a chairman who keeps in touch with local conditions, brings in new members and handles the circulating exhibit in her territory.

CALIFORNIA GAVE FREELY TO BELGIUM

It Was One of First States in Union to Send Shipload of Food to Stricken People.

STANDFORD STUDENTS HELP

(By United Press.)

New York, July 12.—The great Pacific Coast state, California, with a heart bursting beyond its boundaries, was one of the first states in the Union to send a complete shipload of food to destitute Belgium, it became known today through the report of the Commission for Relief in Belgium, with head offices in this city.

And since the donation of that ship, loaded with food and supplies for starving Belgium, the people of California have been most liberal in their contributions. Among the most generous contributors were the people of Palo Alto and the students of Stanford University.

The Stanford students, at the first call for help from across the seas, organized a local relief committee and besides their initial contributions they agreed to make monthly gifts aggregating $400. They have kept this up, and only recently the Chairman of the Belgium Relief Commission received a check of $1250 from Mrs. Harris J. Ryan of Stanford University.

CONCESSION MEN HARD HIT

Must Use Paper Cups For Lemonade and Other Beverages, If Running Hot Water Isn't Available.

STATE HEALTH BOARD RULE

New Regulations For Soda Fountains Will be in Effect Soon—Early Enforcement Probable.

Concession men who follow the county fairs and those who have stands on the streets have been hard hit by the state board of health which has issued an order requiring individual drinking and service cups to be substituted where there is no provision for washing and sterilizing cups and glasses.

The vendors of lemonade and other beverages will have to use individual cups of paper or other material, under the new ruling, if he does not have the facilities for washing cups and glasses in running hot water and with soap.

Rules regulating the sanitary conditions surrounding soda fountains and ice cream parlors also have been adopted by the state board. Besides providing for the washing of glasses in running hot water or the substitution of paper liners or cups, the rules require that employees at soda fountains shall be cleanly in person and dress, free from infectious and contagious diseases and trained in the conduct of their work.

H. E. Barnard, state health commissioner, recently suggested to refreshment stand owners that they improve their methods of serving their beverages, but now that the state board has adopted a rule declaring the common cups and glasses insanitary and dangerous to health he will instruct his inspectors to close all stands or make arrests where insanitary conditions prevail. The use of the common cups is forbidden unless adequate provision is made for washing and sterilizing such cups or glasses after each service.

Suggestions concerning the sanitary arrangements in meat markets and at soda fountains have not been incorporated into rules of the state board of health, and these rules are also to be enforced by the food inspectors. The rule applying to meat markets provides that all fresh and unwrapped meats shall be kept in a refrigerator or protected from flies and dirt by cases. Dealers, under this rule, shall be permitted to keep on the meat block only such parts or carcasses as may be necessary to the expeditions conduct of their business. Most dealers, according to Mr. Barnard, already comply with this rule.

GOOD NEWS

Many Rushville Readers Have Heard it and Profited Thereby.

"Good news travels fast," and the bad back sufferers in Rushville are glad to learn where relief may be found. Many a lame, weak and aching back is had no more, thanks to Doan's Kidney Pills. Our citizens are telling the good news of their experience with this tested remedy. Here is an example worth reading:

Samuel A. Brown, R. R. No. 10, Rushville, says: "I had a severe attack of backache and it got worse every day. Finally, the trouble got so bad that I could hardly raise my foot above the ground. When I stooped, I thought my back would break. Someone advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills and I got a box. I was very much surprised at the prompt way in which they stopped the trouble. In a few days I was free from pain."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Brown had. Foster-McBarn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

TO PUT GASOLINE UNDER THE EARTH

State Fire Marshall's Office Launches Campaign to Prevent Accidents From Such Causes.

ORDERS ARE BEING ISSUED

Forty Days to Comply With Them and in Case of Failure Fine of From $10 to $50 is Possible.

A general crusade has been undertaken by the State Fire Marshal department, to put gasoline underground in Indiana. Hundreds of orders have been issued already and the enforcement will be undertaken at once on the expiration of forty days time allowed to obey. The penalty provided for each day's neglect to obey the order is a fine of from $10 to $50.

The files in the State Fire Marshal department are eloquent in arguments in favor of the underground gasoline storage tank. Accidents often fatal in their results are of almost daily occurrence in the state. In the great majority of these cases accidental and destructive fires would have been entirely eliminated had the explosive been properly stored.

Educational work along this line has been done since the organization of the Fire Marshal department. Progressive dealers in gasoline and users of this oil have in many instances provided approved modern underground storage tanks as a matter of choice. Others, owners of the old fashioned red boxes have readily made the desired change when acquainted with legal requirements. Future attention will be given to delinquents.

Warnings against efforts at concealment of improper storage tanks have been given by deputies in making inspections. One of the greatest menaces to firemen in fighting incipient blazes is found in gasoline stored in cleaning and tailoring establishments above ground. This class of risks has received special attention.

Prosecutions for failure to obey orders will make under the general Fire Marshal law of 1913. The storage of gasoline up to ten gallons in an approved safety can is permitted above ground. Greater quantities must be put underground.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Conoway will move into their new house on North Morgan street this week.

Editorial Secretary Says Sincere Efforts Are Wasted Many Times—is an Occupation

Chicago, July 12.—Delegates to the International Christian Endeavor convention here last night heard Amos R. Wells, Litt. D. LL. D., Boston, Mass., editorial secretary of the United Society of Christian Endeavor, tell them that their efforts in church work were blind and stumbling and that they must seek a definite and systematic way to bring sinners to Christ.

He declared that many of the most sincere efforts of Christians are practically wasted because of lack of training. In part he said: "A man must be trained to run a locomotive; why not to run a prayer meeting? Is the way to Heaven less important than the way to New York?"

"A man must be trained to conduct a business; why not to conduct a church business meeting? Is not our Father's Business as important as selling ribbons?"

"A man must be trained to practice law; why not to save souls? Is it not more important to persuade a jury that a man is a rascal than to persuade an immortal being that Jesus Christ is his only savior?"

"The world puts us to shame. All occupations are crowded but the highest of all occupations."

Closing his address Wells declared that the Christian Endeavor is the ideal training school of the church and suggested religious vocational education to train church workers in the particular work in which they are best adapted.

"It is my opinion, therefore, that the 1915 law repeals by implication the inconsistent statements in the former law and that all prepayments of bonds should be invested in a special fund."

ADMITTED BY WAR OFFICE

(By United Press.)

Paris, July 12.—A furious German night attack south of Souchez in which the enemy used thousands of asphyxiating bombs forced the French to evacuate the Souchez cemetery and portions of adjoining trenches, the war office admitted this afternoon.

The first attack by Germans failed. The French replied with a bayonet attack that swept the Tuetons back upon their own trenches.

While the enemy was reforming for a second attack, the French works were heavily shelled. A large part of the projectiles gave off asphyxiating gases that hung over the cemetery in a calm night and rendered the French positions untenable. The French troops, therefore, withdrew to positions in the rear from which they shelled the enemy with great effectiveness.

Placed Under Ban by Police at Anderson

Anderson, Ind., July 12.—Sporty traveling men and others who wanted recreation today had to shade dice. They couldn't find any of once numerous punch boards. All the boards have been removed by order of the police board. No, Anderson isn't getting goodie-goodie. The merchants objected because the punch boards sold too much merchandise. Nothing was said concerning the gambling feature.

(By United Press.)

Seattle, Wash., July 12.—Greeted by 50 of Seattle's prettiest young women their arms laden with roses, Imperial Potentate Dr. Fredrick R. Smith, of Rochester, N. Y., with his Imperial Divan, was the central figure in a huge ovation here today on the arrival of the Imperial Special for the forty-first Imperial Council meeting of the Shrine.

The progress of the Shrine leader, head of the order comprising more than 200,000 nobles, was a continuous triumph across the state. At the boundary between Idaho and Washington the party was met by representatives of the Seattle temple, who bore the welcome of the governor of the state to the distinguished visitors.

More than 50 special trains have already reached Seattle, bearing shriners to the big meeting, and the last train is expected tonight. In honor of the Imperial Divan, a huge reception was held this afternoon at the Imperial headquarters, and tonight a dinner will be given by Chairman J. E. Chilberg and Potentate J. A. Swallow, of Nile Temple, Seattle.

Valparaiso, Ind., July 12.—Miss Bess Bickober modestly protested today that she was no heroine, but she can't convince Valparaiso of that.

When fire threatened a Movie here and the crowd was in a panic, Bess stifled her fears and kept right on playing. She played even better than usual, and when the crowd heard it, they walked out quietly. After all were out Bess made a break for the door.
